WISDOM

A wise man holds himself in check,
But fools and poets run ahead.
One must be credulous or sit
Forever with the living dead.

The wise man shuts his door at night
And pulls the bolts and drops
the bars.
One must go trustful through the dark
To earn the friendship of the stars.

"UNFAIR ADVANTAGE"???

Yes, even though sometimes your teachers might wrongly ask you, be courteous and take it on the chin. Talking back might make you feel good and mighty, but it doesn't make things any better. Remember, that there are always two sides to every question and remember too, to wait in turn--you'll get your chance to express yourself. Don't take "Unfair Advantage" of your instructor discussing it among other students or just blurting out "Well that ain't right". Wait your turn--you'll be gotten around to.

Give your teachers your attention. Don't talk among yourself or make it necessary to be called to order. You might be sorry when test day comes, and say "Well, I don't remember talking about that. No, evidently you didn't remember. You probably were too busy expressing your opinions or discussing the "Weather"?????????

Maybe once in a while the teacher leaves Monday's test paper on her desk. Remember; PRIVACY SHOULD ALWAYS BE RESPECTED.

In study hall don't make the teacher spend all of her study period calling you down. Don't run in and out any time you wish using the halls; classrooms, and restrooms as lounges. Co-operate with your teachers.

Using your teachers as an excuse to get out of classes is becoming a familiar excuse nowadays. After the word gets around it sound like this, "If you want to get out of class tell him you have to practice the fiddle or sing or dance he'll fall for it. Kids now that we are in High School don't try to take too much advantage. We all know we'll be out in the world soon on our own

If we take too much advantage now, we'll get so used to it we'll try it in real life. Most of us are not yet on our own, but I'm sure most of you from experience have found out it doesn't work. You expect to go on working at whatever type of job you are doing. Remember kids, help your teachers to help you.

Burney High is one of the most wonderful schools in the whole wide world let's keep it that way by showing more courtesy and much less "Unfair Advantage" toward our teachers. Although there's no place like Burney High now let's all help to make it an even better school and one to be even more proud of.

John: Why is a newspaper like a woman?

Edward: Because every man should have one of own and not look at his neighbors.

Betty: How do you like my voice?

Miss Yuill: Betty, I've played the white keys, I've played the black keys; but you're the first singer I ever saw who could sing between the keys.

Mrs. Herron: How do you like the potato salad?

Mr. Herron: Delicious! Did you buy it yourself.

Mrs. Leffler: Is everything shut up dear?

Mr. Leffler: Everything else dear

Paul: My car is like 20 into 7?

Mr. Lippen: Why?

Paul: It won't go.

Gib: Whats worse than raining cats and dogs?

Don: Hailing Streetcars and taxis

THE MAN WITHOUT A HEAD

One night, just before Halloween a few years ago when I was still in College, I had a very shocking experience.

The Teachers College of Alabama is just a short distance across a very heavily wooded valley from the State Institution for the insane.

On this night a few of the girls and I were in our rooms studying. It was about 9 o'clock when the Dean made an announcement to the whole campus for everyone to go inside and lock their doors. One of the patients from the mental hospital had escaped. He was reported heading for the College Campus. The Dean also warned that the man had just killed six girls the week before. We all locked our doors and windows and went to bed.

Along about midnight, I woke up with a start. I thought I heard something scratching on the screen. I got up and turned on my light and looked around, but I didn't see anyone. I went back to bed and lay there thinking about the announcement about the escaped maniac. After awhile I heard something rocking in my rocking chair. I looked up and saw a man sitting there holding his head in his lap. I wanted to scream, but I couldn't say anything. I layed there a minute and watched him. He just sat there and rocked.

I got out of there. I got up and started tiptoeing around him. I finally got around him and ran all the way to the Dean's house. When I got there, the Dean wanted to know what happened to my hair. It was snow white. He called a group of the girls and we went back. When we got there he was not there. Only the screen was ripped open.

Just at this time a boy came running with a message for the Dean from the hospital for the insane. It said that the escaped man had been found in the woods with his head cut off.

Now when everyone wants to know why I have white hair and still I am so young, I tell them this story. As you know, this story is true.

as told by Miss Kryter

Hey Kids!! Please take notice!!! Don't you all think that Mr. Deweese is keeping the building nice and clean? Lets all help him a little and put our paper in the wastepaper basket. Little things like that help a lot.

F. F. A.

The Future Farmers of America chapter at Burney School was quite active through the summer.

The chapter put out forty acres of soybeans on the Morgan Tiers farm. Machinery was donated by local implement dealers and the candle and the Candle Lighters Home Economics Club served dinner for the boys. The beans were harvested a few days ago and were stored at the local elevator.

In addition to the beans, the chapter won the float award at the Decatur County Fair. The theme of the float compared the method of farming carried on by Snuffy Smith to that of F. F. A. members.

The chapter also had a winning Land Judging Team. The team was composed of Charles Kiefer, Kenny Pumphrey, Tim Grote, and Robert Cochran. The team won first in the county, and was defeated at district contest at Martinsville.

BIOLOGY

We of the Biology class are learning what great part nature plays in our world today. Here are some of the things we are studying about in Biology: What makes birds and butterflies migrate; the importance of insects to man, also that some of the insects are very smart as far as insects go. There are insects called Social Insects such as bees, ants, and termites. These insects live in colonies and each individual depends upon the other to such an extent that none of them could live by themselves. This is but a small amount of what we of the Biology class is studying about. Biology is interesting, it's work, also it is a lot of fun.

Sergeant: "Why is it important not to lose your head in an attack?"

Recruit: "Because that would leave no place to put the helmet."

Be a good sport!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Phil Grote broke his leg at the last of the softball season and has been out every since. It is possible that he might not even get to play any basketball this year.

The basketball cheer leaders have been elected for this year. They are Patty Davis, Nancy Davis, Rita Pavy, and Doris Damaske.

COMMERCE NEWS

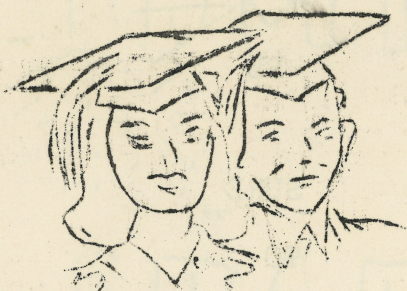

The Commerce Department of Burney High School has a substantial increase in enrolment in business subjects this year. I beleive, the increase in interest in business subjects reflects the tendency of students to be alert to the necessity of obtaining more information about our business world and the opportunities that lie therein.

During the preparatory days prior to World War II and during the war years, the accent was on production by necessity; and as a consequence, most workers secured jobs on the production line with its higher pay. Office workers were underpaid and often poorly trained. Now that once again businesses must operate more on an efficiency basis, the office worker is recognized as one of the most important spokes in the wheel of any organization. Of course, office jobs and a corresponding increase in the prestige and salary of these semi-professional workers.

The high school courses in business subjects form the foundation for further study on the business field or for immediate securement of a job with unlimited future possibilities.

Mr. Bultman

Anyone can do any amount of work, provided it isn't the work he is supposed to be doing.
